

SARDEGNA

The second largest island of the Mediterranean specialises in the production of two grapes - the red Cannonau and the white Vermentino. Other indigenous varieties such as Monica, Nuragus and Bovale are starting to gain more traction. The terroir in Sardinia is extremely diverse, spanning desert to lime-rich hillsides.

PALA

Founded in 1950. Today Mario Pala is the third generation of the family taking care of the vines. Respect for tradition, special care of the vines and the production of great wines, have always been the fundamental philosophy of Pala. The Vermentino Stellato recently won three bicchieri from Gambero Rosso, the most important Italian wine award.
