Trentino-Alto Adige, in the north of Italy, is surrounded by the Dolomites and Alps, so viticulture is performed on many steep slopes and terraces. Due to the challenging environment, the focus is on quality that makes it worthwhile persisting with the hard work in difficult environmental conditions.

The particular microclimate with its significant daytime temperature variation allows for very aromatic, elegant wines with complexity and freshness. International varieties such as Sauvignon Blanc, Pinot Noir and Pinot Grigio from this area are highly acclaimed alongside Gewurztraminer, Muller Thurgau and native grapes such as Lagrein, Teroldego and Schiava.

LAVIS

LaVis is an Award Winning cooperative, located in the heart of the Trentino wine region. Its origins date back to 1850 when the Cembran family constructed the first part of the winery. Today Lavis agronomists and oenologists identify outstanding vineyards and sites with the best growing conditions.

These high-selected growers cultivate the wines on small individual plots using traditional methods and hand harvesting. Vineyards are located on steep hills as high as 800 meters above sea level, enabling the vines to express their full potential.

LaVis represents a true expression of Trentino's identity, through hard work, innovation and respect for the environment.
